

Montevideo, Uruguay

Jail
Break !Raul Sendic
Guerrilla leader escapes

More than 100 Tupamaros guerrillas escaped from Punto Carretas Prison in Uruguay. The escape was completed through a 30 yard tunnel leading to a house across from the prison.

Among the 100 guerrillas were three of the movement leaders, Raul Sendic, the man who formed the urban guerrilla group eight years ago, was also liberated.

This main jail break came only five weeks after 38 women guerrillas escaped from another Montevideo jail also through a tunnel.

Two days later in Argentina, guerrillas drove a delivery van into the municipal prison, shot seven guards and freed 17 prisoners. The prisoners who had guns opened fire simultaneously with the guerrillas who were armed with machine guns.

There were about three guerrillas, and they entered the compound in a truck carrying the name of a company that supplies cooking gas to the institution. Five guards were killed and two are in serious conditions.

Long Live the Victory of the People's Struggle!

Uruguay police work to dig out tunnel

cont. From pg. 7

Dell and the D. A. have had us placed in a little cell with a microphone on the door, and are trying us without our being present at our own trial.

With all these facts in mind, we refuse to sit peacefully and do nothing while our lives are being dealt off in this legal lynching.

We ask that the people come to our aid and support and demand that we receive our constitutional and human rights.

RONALD FREEMAN, ISIAH HOUSTON, JACKIE JOHNSON, ELMER PRATT, PAUL REED, WILL STAFFORD, SANDY RED, RENEE MOORE, WAYNE PHARR

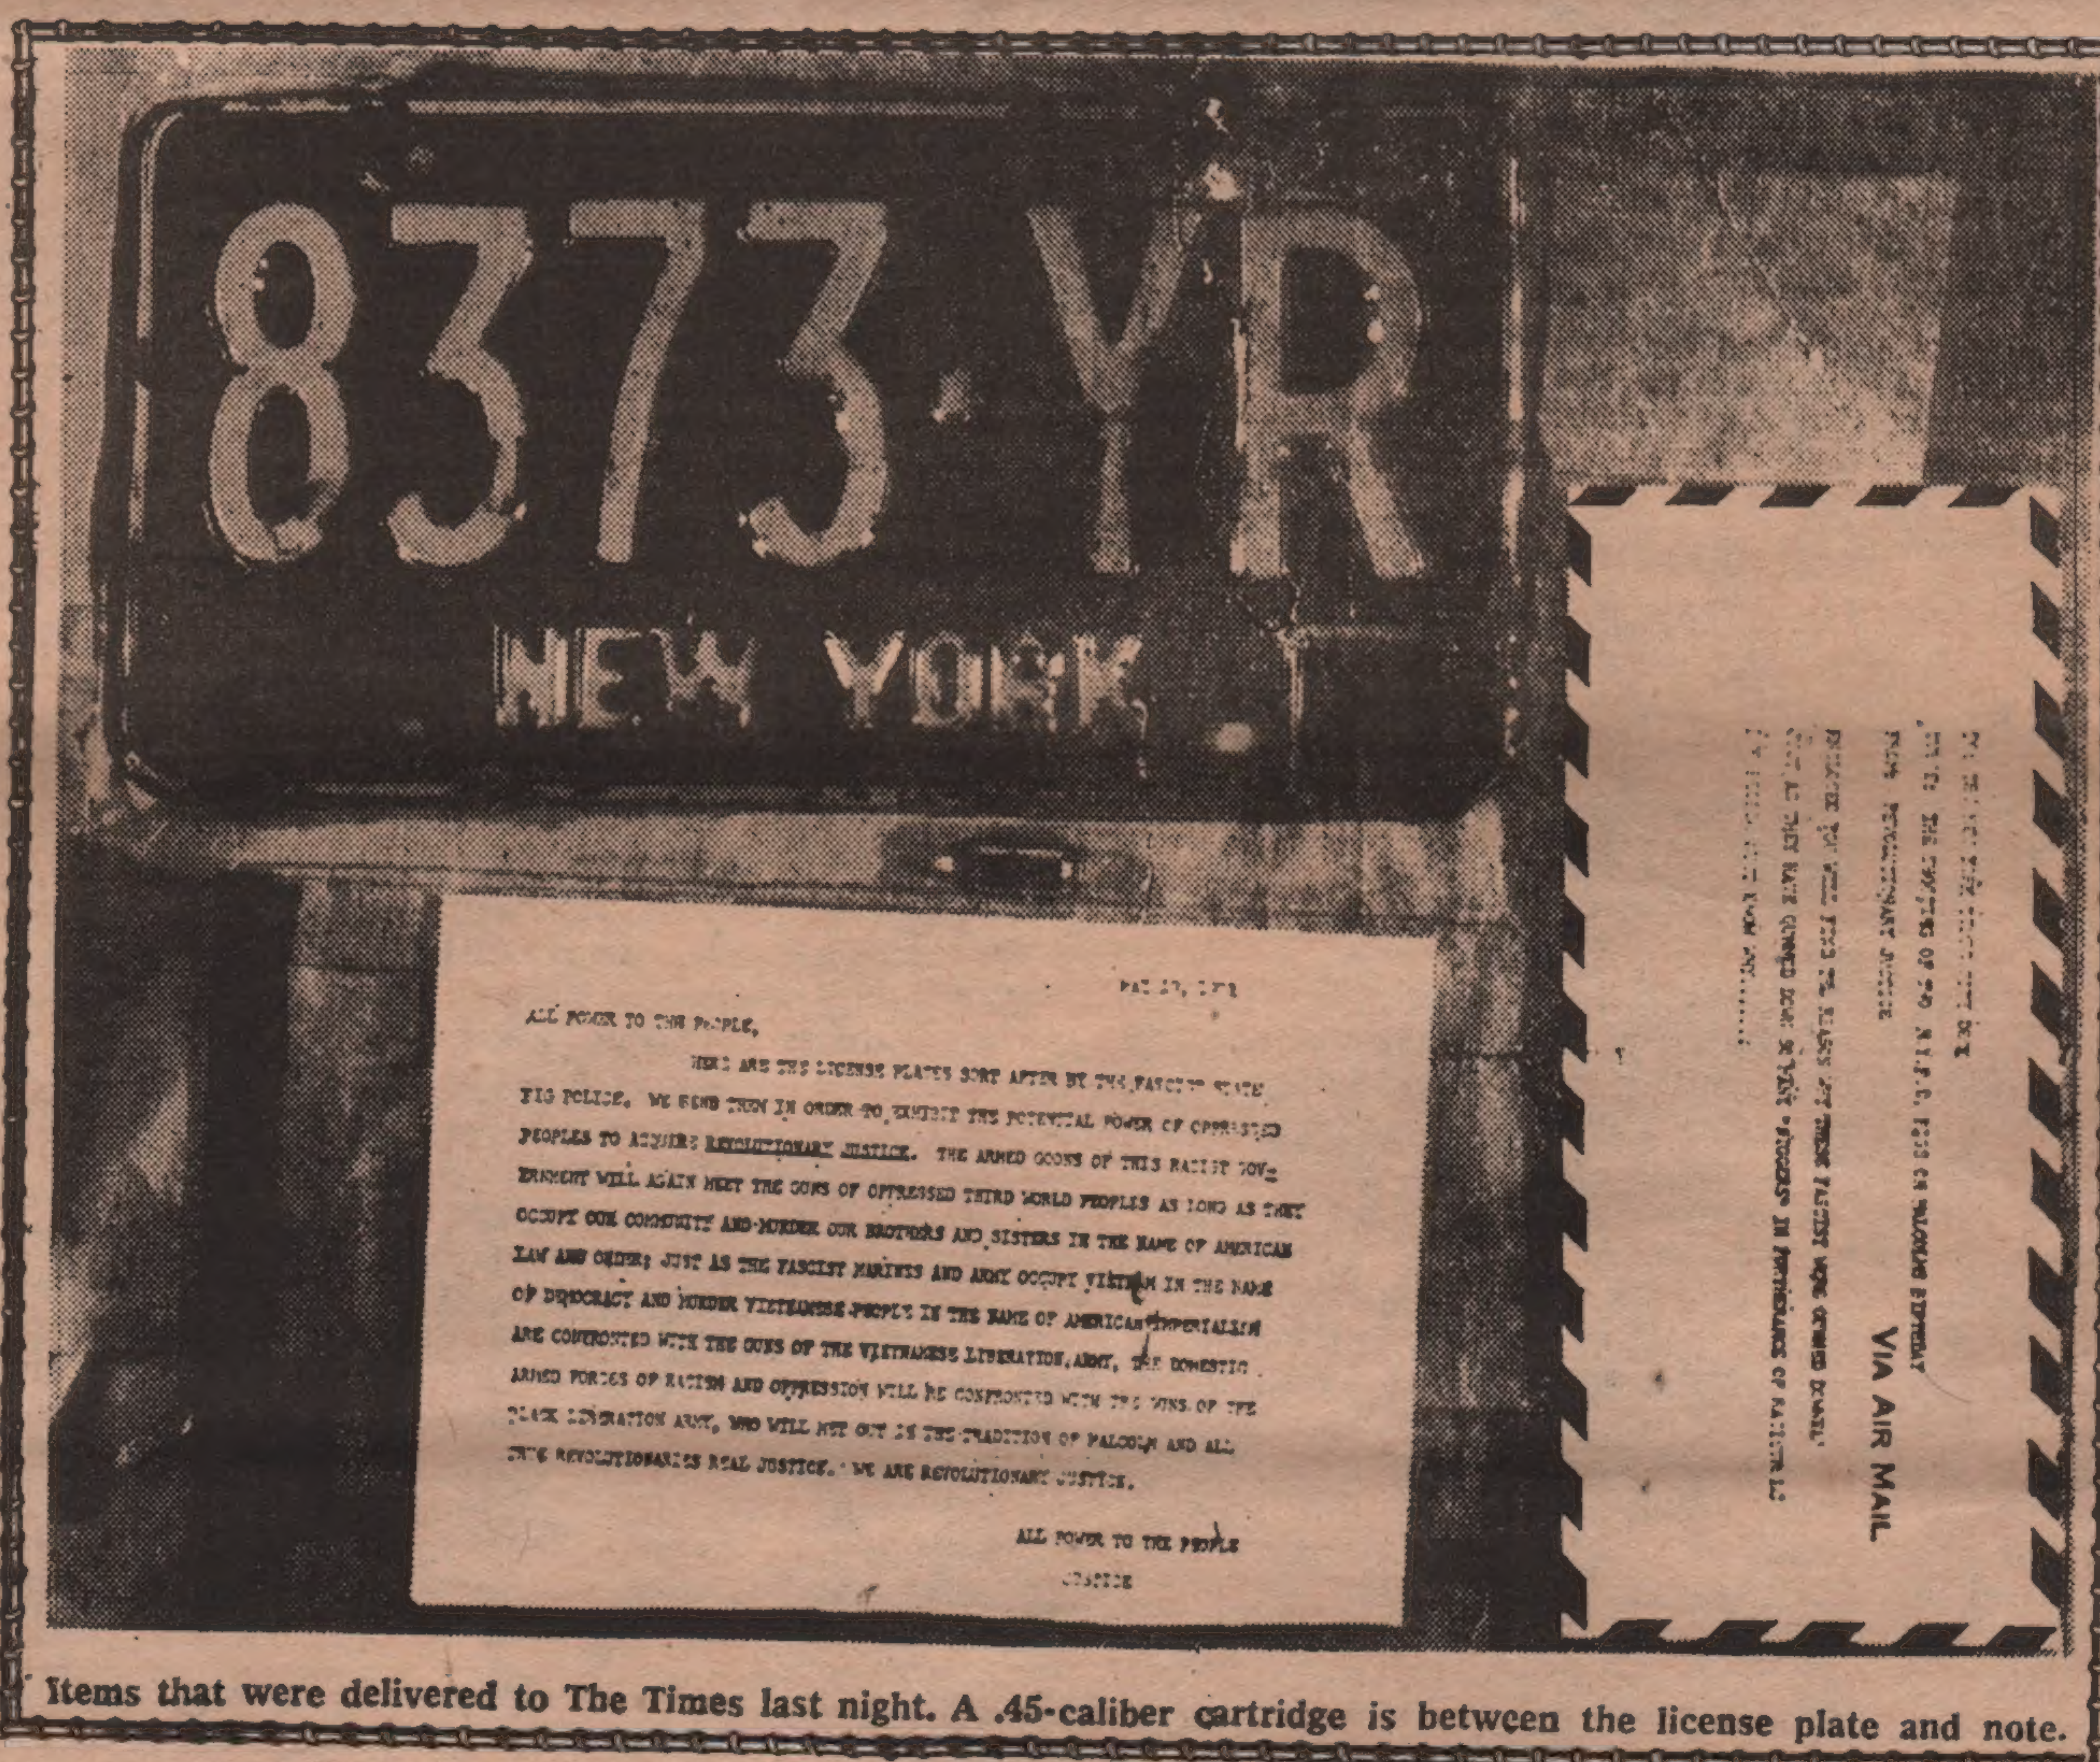

On Revolutionary Justice

PART I The machine-gunning of two fascist Storm Troopers who were bodyguards for District Attorney Frank Hogan shot the liberation struggle of the Afro-American people to another level. And what could have been more fitting than to kick it off on Malcolm's Birthday. Two days later, on May 21, 1971 REVOLUTIONARY JUSTICE moved on two more pig cops and this time the Revolutionary Executioners were absolute, and two Gestapo pigs laid dead in the streets of Harlem.

Taking off pig cops is not the only function of revolutionaries, nor are the brothers who moved on four of Lindsay's finest "cowards" as the pig media and their bootlicking nigger counterparts (Amsterdam News) are trying to depict them. They are the NEW URBAN GUERRILLAS who constitute the military arm of the Black Liberation Army. Their job is to move on pig cops whenever it is necessary, mainly to capture weapons. (However, there are some exceptions. For example, for psychological purposes, or as REVOLUTIONARY JUSTICE puts it, "...to exhibit the revolutionary potential of black people...". The other primary task of the Urban Guerrilla is to sabotage the oppressor's machinery, expropriate (rip-off) money from capitalist banks, and - in our situation deal with the Big Dope Dealers in an absolute and final manner.

The importance of the psychological war against the pigs can be seen in the pandemonium immediately following the people's execution of pigs Waverly Jones and Joseph Piagentini. Plainclothes vigilantes flooded the Harlem community, armed with shot guns and immediately conducted a "coon" hunt. PBA (Policeman's Benevolent Association) President Keirhan suggested arming the pig cops with shotguns (which they did anyway, prior to his official hint, over the pig news media), and said, "If the revolutionaries want a fight, then we'll give them one." As if all the pig cops in New York City were going to line up on the south side of 110th Street and the Revolutionaries were going to line up on the north side and both groups were going to shoot it out. Needless to say, the New Urban Guerrillas aren't as stupid as the President of the PBA, and they refused this pig's challenge to the slaughter.

The guerrilla fights on his own terms, when the conditions are favorable. If the conditions are really right for the liberation forces, it wouldn't make any difference if the Items that were delivered to The Times last night. A .45-caliber cartridge is between the license plate and note.

military enemy (the fascist pig cops) came armed with shotguns, machine-guns, or tanks. We would take them too! Impossible you say? Well, the war of the Vietnamese people against the U.S. Imperialist is the best current example of revolutionaries arming themselves. Until the United State's massive bombing raids that began in the latter part of 1964, "some 90 percent of Viet Cong (NFL) arms were weapons captured from Saigon or American Forces."

Even the pigs in Washington, D.C. were forced to take note of Malcolm's Birthday

While passive niggers were burning candles and incense, Nixon, Mitchell and Hoover were burning the midnight oil. Two weeks later, Nixon called a meeting at the White House for just about all the pig chiefs in Babylon, with the exception of Pig Commissioner Murphy of N.Y.C. (It seems that J. Edgar Hog had an attitude and held Murphy personally responsible for the pigs that were moved on and offed in N.Y.)

One could see the spiritual manifestation of this

REVOLUTIONARY JUSTICE. The people were pitching lye and glass into the faces of bus dispatchers, mistaken for pigs, and more pigs were shot at and one brother fired point-blank at a pig cop, but his gun mis-fired.

We also take note of the international ramifications of this "colossal event" The separate funerals of pigs Waverly Jones and Joseph Piagentini were attended by fascist representatives from throughout the world. When covering the "pitiful" display of force at the funeral, the Pig News Media zeroed-in on a Irish pig cop from Dublin. (There were no pig representatives from Belfast, because there is an insurrection going on there. And we're sure pig Agnew was quizzed by the fascist bootlicking host of the 10 reactionary countries he visited about the "natives" of New York City.